A Wealthy Coloradoan Sees a Great Future for Us.

Happy, Contented and Prosperous-Absence of Squalor.

ver. Mr. Watkins is one of the most prominent men of the Colorado city, and is also one of the wealthiest. He is now on his way home from an extensive trip, but may remain here for some weeks, as he finds the climate agrees with him very well and he is not in the best of health. Mr. Watkins has been chaperoned during his visit by Mr. George Brice, and has, therefeore, seen a great deal of the city and its surroundings. "I was surprised," he said, "at the magnificent grounds of Liberty parkit is one of the best locations I have ever seen, and has a most excellent start. It will be a place of rare beauty in a very few years, and it will be found an excellent investment to spend money on it judiciously. Have I been to the beach! Indeed, I have; also to Fort Douglas, the sulphur springs and other points of interest. I consider the view from the east bench to be one of the finest in America, and I have just passed through the most beautiful portions of California, too. The Great Sait Lake—one of the most beautiful bodies of water in the world, is enough in itself to guarantee a great city being built here. We have no such attraction near Denver; if we had it would be througed the year round. The climate could not be better, I think, and is far preferable to some of the boasted health resorts on the coast. I was here seven years erable to some of the boasted health re-sorts on the coast. I was here seven years ago, and I must say that while some have asserted Sait Lake was a 'slow' town, the improvements made since then scarcely carry out that idea. I sat out under the trees at the sulphur springs for a complete. carry out that idea. I sat out under the trees at the sulphur springs for a couple of hours the other day and watched the teams coming in from the northern settlements. I noticed the horses, the harness and the dress of the drivers, and found that all were of good quality, and the people seemed contented and happy. This, to me, was an evidence that the territory is prosperous and that her people are all right. One thing, too, that has convinced me in this idea is the absence of squalor and filth that I have witnessed with pain in many an eastern and western city of equal and even less population than you have here. Everyand western city or squar and even less population than you have here. Everything I have seen has impressed me most favorably. The one thing that has held the territory back is now in a fair way of being removed. Sooner or later national party lines must be drawn here as claswhere.
